Symphony brings the sounds of the holidays to people with special needs

About 45 musicians from the Milwaukee Symphony Orchestra will be playing holiday music in concert for children, adults and older adults with special needs and students from the School for Early Development & Achievement charter school from 10 to 11 a.m. Friday, Dec. 18 at the Milwaukee Center For Independence Conference Center, 2020 W. Wells St.

The concert is part of the MSO's "Hometown Holiday Tour," which is bringing holiday cheer to nonprofit agencies throughout the Milwaukee area this week.

The orchestra, conducted by Stuart Chafetz, will be playing holiday classics, including "White Christmas," "Sleigh Ride" and "Winter Wonderland," as well as a piece by Strauss and selections from "My Fair Lady." The orchestra will also invite the audience to participate in a holiday music sing-along.
