

FINDING PROMISE

Navigating a year of unprecedented challenges

Have you considered bunching? Support MCFI while achieving tax savings

Have you considered bunching charitable contributions? Bunching contributions can be a powerful way for you to support charitable organizations and achieve tax savings. In general, bunching means to double your charitable giving in one tax year and then not make any charitable donations in the next tax year. Consider the following graphs:

- Charitable Donations
- Medical Expenses
- State and Property Taxes
- Standard Deductions vs. Bunching to Itemize

Although this strategy may allow you to itemize and gain a tax savings in alternate years, please contact your legal or tax advisor for specific tax advice. If bunching in 2020 is a good strategy for your personal circumstances, please consider MCFI as part of your charitable giving. Go to www.mcfi.net/donate. Thank you for affecting change in our community!

CONTACT: Kasey Chard
414-937-2085 | kasey.chard@mcfi.net
www.mcfi.net/donate